Pine Grove Vote by Community Delayed But Town Meeting Will Be Held Monday

Balloting by the people of Orinda on future use of the Pine Grove, originally scheduled for late this month or early next month, was postponed this week by the Orinda Association.

At a special meeting Wednesday night at the home of President Robert Boyle at 11 St. James Court, the association board "accepted in principle" a Civic Affairs Committee recommendation that the voting be delayed.

However, a "Town Meeting" at Orinda School auditorium will still be held at 8 p.m. Monday, as originally scheduled.

ON MOTION of Vice-President F. A. Sawyer, seconded by Mel Arighi, the directors unanimously voted to "accept in principle the Civic Affairs Committee resolution, with the reservation that the proper timing for obtaining expression of the views of the people of Orinda on the question of land use in Orinda be determined at the discretion of this board."

Pacific Intermountain Express, which plans a $750,000 office headquarters at its 10½-acre site at the Pine Grove, announced yesterday that, in view of the association action, it would prepare its request to the county "for rezoning of the property." (See separate story.)

THE CIVIC AFFAIRS resolution, passed at a meeting last Monday night at Orinda School auditorium, had recommended that:

"The action on the question of the ballot of the people of Orinda should be postponed until we have had an opportunity to examine the application to be filed by PIE with county officials, so that we can consider in detail the legal implications and other problems that will depend upon the final wording of the application."

Some 75 people attended the Civic Affairs meeting. A few of them were PIE representatives, headed by C. E. Johnson, executive vice-president.

When Civic Affairs Chairman Paul Pollaczek called for a voice-vote on the resolution, only two voted against it. They were Horace Breed and W. M. Sawyer.

Sawyer later explained that his negative vote was based on his belief that "there should be no ballot at all, because by balloting the community would compromise its already established position."

THE "TOWN Meeting" next Monday night will be in the form of a panel discussion, Boyle said yesterday.

Joe Creighton will act as moderator of the panel, which will include a representative of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce, to explain the chamber's recent 74-7 vote in favor of PIE's plans; H. R. Ohleyer, representing "pro-PIE citizens"; William Penn Mott Jr. of the Orinda Association's Planning Committee, and Frank Newman.

In addition, PIE will be represented by Parkman Sayward, vice-president in charge of sales, who will be part of the panel, according to PIE spokesmen.

HORACE BREED will not present the proposal for an alternate site for a community center, Boyle said, because the Civic Affairs Committee last Monday night tabled that matter until the community vote on the land use problem is taken. (See separate story.)

In reporting the Civic Affairs action on balloting, Pollaczek submitted an explanatory letter, which stated:

"The Orinda Association's recent letter to all Orinda residents, accompanying the Violich report, stated: 'Because of its importance this matter will be settled through a polling of the people, by mail ballot, that will be sent to you on or before July 1, 1955. This ballot is being prepared by your Civic Affairs Committee, and plans are now being formulated to determine the proper wording and mechanics of transmitting the ballot to and from you.'

"SINCE THE MAILING of that letter, the Civic Affairs Committee has received a communication from PIE which we quote in part:

" 'In the past day or two the question has arisen as to what position PIE will take if the vote is negative. Some have said that I have made the statement that I would abide by such a vote. No such statement has ever been made by anyone from this company; however, in answering a question of Mr. Boyle on Monday (June 6) I told him that we had never felt that the majority of the people did not want our administration building and I can say therefore that there has never been any serious discussion on our part as to what steps would be taken in such an event.

" 'If the vote is close, I might possibly determine that it is a matter for the county authorities to decide. If a substantial majority vote negatively, future procedure as to the disposition of the property etc. would unquestionably have to be decided by our board of 14 directors.'

"It thus appears that the matter of the Pine Grove will not 'be settled through a polling of the people.' On the contrary, it is evident that PIE intends to file for rezoning with the county authorities regardless of the wishes of the residents of Orinda.

"THE PROBLEM of balloting thus is no longer a problem to be worked out amicably and informally between PIE and the Orinda Association.

"It is, rather, tied in inextricably with the formal action that will be taken (1) by the county technical planing staff, (2) the County Planning Commission and (3) the Board of Supervisors."

Pollaczek's letter added that the new situation "will create legal and other technical difficulties relative to the wording of the rezoning application as well as the wording of the ballot itself."

AT THEIR SPECIAL meeting Wednesday night, the association directors discussed the possibility of circulating petitions aimed at deleting from the proposed Orinda master plan any provisions for commercial establishments in the Orinda School District that do not serve the immediate needs of Orinda.

Such petition-circulation, instead of balloting, was urged by Harold Rote, who declared that prompt work on petitions would grapple with the principal issue.

Directors agreed that at the June 27 regular board meeting, Boyle will appoint a committee to draft a sample wording of such a possible petition.

"LET'S DECIDE, once and for all," Pollaczek stressed, "whether the people of Orinda want any kind of commercial development in Orinda which does not serve their immediate needs."

Zach Montgomery urged a house-to-house canvass rather than a mail ballot.

John Ogden reported, "The Chamber of Commerce authorized me to tell you that the chamber would furnish 20 to 25 people to work with you an a canvass."

Uranium Exploration Told for Rotary

Orinda Rotarians, meeting Wednesday noon at the Willows, heard a talk on "Uranium Exploration and Development."

Emerson Wiser, treasurer of the Welking Mining Company, talked and showed radio-active rocks and demonstrated Geiger counters.

The company, which is engaged in uranium exploration and mining in southern Utah, has offices in Berkeley.

Program chairman was Joe Duffel.

Alternate Site Urged by Breed; Proposal Tabled

Horace Breed told some 75 persons at a Civic Affairs Committee meting Monday night in Orinda School auditorium that Orindans could save more than $84,000 by developing a community center on some 38 acres west of the future San Pablo Dam Road by-pass, instead of at the Pine Grove.

However, on motion of Cyril Atkinson, seconded by Austin Kelly, the entire matter of the alternate site was tabled until after the community-wide voting on the Pine Grove and on general land-use in Orinda.

LATER IN the evening, the Civic Affairs Committee recommended postponement of the balloting, and this recommendation was accepted "in principle" Wednesday night by the Orinda Association board. (See separate story.)

Displaying a contour map, Breed reported that the East Bay Municipal Utility District has offered to sell the 38 acres of "tableland" for community use for $55,800—$1470 per acre.

HE READ a letter from Phil Wagner, properties division manager for EBMUD, in which Wagner said the price would apply only if some action were taken in the "reasonably near future — say, prior to November 1, 1955."

Road and utilities work would bring the total price to $117,675, Breed said.

He stated that this contrasted to a total estimated price of $202,400 for the 10½-acre Pine Grove parcel of Pacific Intermountain Express, plus about four additional acres at the Shell property.

Planners Deny Olsen Permit For Two Lots

H. M. Olsen's permit to build on two lots in Lake Orinda Highlands was unanimously denied Tuesday night by the County Planning Commission.

The permit, granted May 25 by the County Board of Adjustment, was appealed to the full Planning Commission by objecting neighbors.

COMMISSIONERS J. D. Decosta, Arthur Young and Frank Beede, who had served on the adjustment board and granted the permit, reversed themselves Tuesday and joined J. P. Connors, George Honegger, Donald Ward and Robert Elliott in voting denial.

The decision to deny came after residents of the area, led by John Van Dyne of 20 Camino Del Diablo, raised objections based on contentions the County Zoning Ordinance was being violated.

Olsen, of 3727 Sundale Road, Lafayette, sought a permit to build on two lots (12 and 13) with 10 foot sideyards in Block "N" of Lake Orinda Highlands. One lot is about one-third acre and the other is slightly less than a half-acre.

The area is zoned R-A (Residential-Agricultural — half-acre minimum lot size).

VAN DYNE PRESENTED a petition bearing some 50 signatures of residents opposed to the permit.

James Hupp, chairman of the Orinda Association's Planning Committee, presented a letter signed by the committee's secretary, Mitchell Farrar.

The letter pointed out that two adjacent, contiguous lots with continuous frontage, which separately are of insufficient size to meet the zoning requirements, must be treated as one lot, under provisions of Ordinance 933.

RESIDENTS also protested on the basis that the sewage situation in the area would become more serious if the permit were granted.

The planning commissioners took note that, although the area's map shows many small lots, many owners have taken several lots on which to build.

It was mainly on that basis the Planning Commission denied the permit, according to Principal County Planner H. Russell Griffith.

Overcast Hangs Above Orinda

Heavy overcast during most of the past week left Orinda's weather bird groping around the area. Even in clear weather he doesn't see too well.

The 80-degree temperature of June 9 proved a deceiving start to the seven-day period. The next day the thermometer dipped 19 degrees, and readings remained around that mark until Wednesday.

Here are the high and low temperatures:

	High	Low
June 9	80	50
June 10	61	49
June 11	66	48
June 12	65	50
June 13	56	49

PIE Prepares To Ask Rezoning At Pine Grove

Following delay of community voting on the Pine Grove problem, Pacific Intermountain Express is going ahead with plans for requesting rezoning of its Pine Grove property; C. E. Johnson, executive vice-president of PIE, announced yesterday.

Informed of the Orinda Association board's postponement of the previously planned balloting, Johnson said:

"Of course, I was unhappy to learn that the Orinda Association Board of Directors had accepted a resolution passed at a meeting held under the auspices of the Civic Affairs Committee, that the people not be given an opportunity for an indefinite period to voice an opinion on PIE's plans.

"We therefore have no other recourse except to prepare our request to the County Planning Commission for rezoning of the property."

PIE is planning to erect a $750,000 office headquarters building at its 10½-acre site at the Pine Grove.

Brown Censured, Praised in Grand Jury Final Report

The Contra Costa Grand Jury criticized Sheriff Harry A. Brown in a report on Tuesday.

"Politically inspired," was the Sheriff's immediate reply to the report.

BROWN WAS accused of weakening morale, causing loss of efficiency and wasting tax funds since taking office January 3, in the Grand Jury report, which was the result of an all-day questioning of department personnel earlier this month.

In order for the department to "render better service to the county, restore harmony and improve morale," the report urged that the "political hatchet be buried."

Morale had been weakened, the jury stated, by "apparent political reprisals (by Brown), delegating administrative functions and highly technical duties to his principal clerk, failing to hold general staff meetings to discuss proposed organizational changes, unwise publicity and a military aloofness."

THE REPORT said that Principal Clerk Ruth Rathke, one of 21 members of the department quizzed by the Grand Jury, has antagonized many members of the department and has assumed responsibilities not in keeping with her duties.

It added, however, that she is capable and "could be more efficient if (her) efforts were confined to the duties of principal clerk."

Signed by Foreman Robert B. Claxton of Kennsington, the report went on to say the sheriff is wasting tax funds by "transferring trained, experienced and efficient personnel, especially on the Civil Division, from positions in which they could render the most valuable services to the county, and placing them where the value of their services has been reduced to the minimum and by placing trained personnel with untrained personnel."

THE JURORS, on the other hand, credited Brown with "some excellent ideas, which would be of great value to the county through real teamwork in the department. Greater patrol coverage for the county is a step forward.

The report recommended recognizing loyalty "as a two way street and that it is as necessary to give it, as to receive it" that the principal clerk be confined to duties assigned for that job, that the sheriff realize the department is not a military organization and that "aloofness on the part of the chief executive officer is out of place."

Brown said in reply:

THE GRAND JURY has not one iota of evidence that there have been any political reprisals in the sheriff's department, and the conclusion that there have, stems from the grand jury's confidential meetings at the undersheriff's home prior to their formal investigation. Such evidence taken under such circumstances obviously affected the judgment of the judy."

He said, "I can see no basis for the criticism of the principal clerk (Mrs. Rathke). She is only carrying out my directions."

"It is noteworthy that the grand jury has no criticism of the law enforcement program since I took office and, perhaps, now that the grand jury report on administrative problems, which are the responsibility of this office, has been submitted, I will be free to complete the job which the people have entrusted me."

New Group 'for Residential Orinda' Declares Zone Precedent Main Issue

Declaring that the main issue confronting Orindans is whether "to establish a precedent by breaking down zoning restrictions," a newly formed group, the Citizens' Committee for Residential Orinda, swung into action this week.

"The controversy which has arisen from the acquisition by Pacific Intermountain Express of the Pine Grove land emphasizes the basic issue," Raymond G. O'Connor, chairman of the new group, said yesterday.

"Should we allow PIE, a huge corporation which does not and will not serve the needs of Orinda, to establish a precedent by breaking down zoning restrictions?"

O'Connor, who lives at 145 Glorietta Boulevard, and who is active in the Glorietta Improvement Association, continued:

"THE PROPERTY was sold to PIE by the East Bay Municipal Utility District at the precise moment when over 75 per cent of the people of Orinda had petitioned the Board of Supervisors to maintain the residential-agricultural standing of the Pine Grove area.

"The Board of Supervisors acceded to that request; but PIE flouted our petition, ignored the unanimous vote of the board and purchased the land at an inflated price."

At that time, according to O'Connor, C. E. Johnson, executive vice-president of PIE, announced:

"We're gambling on the hope we can develop the good will of the people of Orinda. We aren't going to try to force anything on them, though. If they don't want us, we'll have to go elsewhere."

O'Connor added:

"THROUGH WIDE publicity, paid ads, and high-cost, personalized appeals, PIE is attempting to confuse the issues and thereby divide Orinda residents. They early proposed that the people cast a ballot to determine whether PIE should be allowed to build here.

"Yet Mr. Johnson last week, in a letter addressed to the Orinda Association and its Civic Affairs Committee, states that they will not agree to abide by the results of the ballot. He clearly points out that they expect to file for rezoning even should the vote go against them!

"The Citizens' Committee for Residential Orinda feels that this is a flagrant disregard of the principles of fair play. The PIE executives have stated again and again that they would not come to Orinda unless the people would welcome them. Now they say that no matter how Orinda decides, they will carry the fight to Martinez if necessary.

"Such a strategy suggests doubts as to PIE's ultimate intentions. Can we trust their word as to the future, if already they disregard our views?

"TO ILLUSTRATE what could happen in Orinda if a precedent of spot rezoning were established, we cite a few possibilities:

"1. A shopping center could go up in the undeveloped land adjacent to Sleepy Hollow.

"2. An insurance company's multiple dwelling project could go up on Charles Hill.

"3. On Miner Road the residents could be faced with a medical-dental center.

"4. Gigantic 'administrative units' could be located on hundreds of now-vacant EBMUD acres: for example, near Glorietta and the Filter Plant.

"These are only a few of the problems that are likely to arise if the zoning barriers are broken down.

"THE GREATEST confusion that has been created in the minds of Orinda residents concerns the tax savings which PIE claims will accrue to the community. In one of the most recent publicity releases, a figure of $8000 is given as the amount accruing to the Orinda Elementary School District.

"Yet in this week's paper we read that the school budget for 1955-56 will be in the neighborhood of $662,913. In other words, PIE, by its own admission, would contribute only slightly in excess of 1 per cent to the annual budget of the district."

"We say that Orinda should develop and broaden its tax base by bringing new residents to the area. Thirty new homes would contribute more than $8000.

"ORINDANS WILL have to decide soon whether they want a valley occupied by outside commercial enterprises, or whether they want to remain a residential community. PIE's talk about its beautiful building and lower taxes is only an attempt to sway public opinion without telling the whole story.

"Orinda is truly at the Crossroads!"

Any inquiries to the new group concerning the issue can be made to Orinda P. O. Box 158.

Work Starts on San Ramon Sewer Line; Six Residents Lodge Legal Complaint

Work started Tuesday on a big sewer line to serve the San Ramon Valley amidst legal action taken to prevent the construction.

Crews from the Encon Corporation of Los Angeles, low bidder on the $685,213 project, began digging to lay sewer pipe at Front and Diablo Streets in Danville.

GERRY HORSTKOTTE, engineer-manager for Central Contra Costa Sanitary District, signed the contract with the firm Tuesday morning.

A complaint asking "declaratory relief and injunction" was filed Friday in the office of the County Clerk by Roscoe D. Jones Jr., Oakland attorney and resident of Danville, on behalf of six San Ramon Valley property owners.

The suit asked that all proceedings adopted by the County Board of Supervisors and the CCCSD be declared null and void.

Proceedings referred to was the resolution passed by the County Board of Supervisors Apri 7, granting power to form Local Improvement District 30 to the sanitary district board, and the sanitary district resoluion ordering the sewer work to begin.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT District 30, most of which is outside CCCSD boundaries, takes in some 9000 acres of the San Ramon Valley, to a point south and east of Danville.

Grand Jury Probe Asked by Cummings In Recall Dispute

The battle over the recall movement directed against Supervisor H. L. (Jack) Cummings reached a new peak of intensity this week as Cummings asked that the Grand Jury investigate him and his conduct in office, and as the recall group hurled new charges.

Cummings' request that the Grand Jury investigate him followed the statement by the recall group, the Citizens for Representative Government, that installation of electrical facilities at the new Pacific Intermountain Express freight terminal in Emeryville by Cummings' firm, Crockett Electric Shop, is "the type of involvement which makes it difficult for Mr. Cummings to act objectively as a supervisor."

THE RECALL group, in a press release from Robert J. Miller of Lafayette, publicity committee chairman, pointed to actions of Cummings prior to and since the May 2 launching of the recall movement as examples of effectiveness of that movement.

At the same time, C. E. Johnson, executive vice-president of PIE, stated:

"Because of the unfortunate situation that has developed by the fact that Crockett Electric was low bidder on the electrical work at our current Emeryville terminal expansion, we will ask Mr. Cummings not to vote on our Orinda rezoning request when we go before the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors."

PIE IS planning for a $750,000 office headquarters building at its 10½-acre property at the Pine Grove corner in Orinda. This plan, as well as the general idea of commercial office buildings anywhere in Orinda for outside companies, has met with considerable fire from Orinda residents.

In regard to the accusations of the Citizens for Representative Government that Cummings, chairman of the Contra Costa County board, does not adequately represent the Second Supervisorial District, Cummings said:

"IF THERE is anything specific in the charges the group has made, then the Grand Jury should investigate me and my conduct in office and take proper steps to prosecute me if I am guilty of any wrongdoing.

"I am making this move due to the fact that the committee which seeks my recall alleges I have used my county position for my own personal gain."

Grand Jury Foreman Robert Claxton said he would present the request to the Grand Jury. The present Grand Jury's term expires the end of this month.

CUMMINGS' Crockett Electric Shop, through its main office in Pleasant Hill, was the successful low bidder for electrical subcontracting work at the PIE terminal expansion in Emeryville. General contractor is Dinwiddie Construction Company of San Francisco. The electrical subcontracting work is nearing completion.

Bids for the electrical subcontracting were placed with Dinwiddie Construction Company. L. E. Cornell, PIE director of properties, listed the six bids as follows:

Crocket Electric Shop, $62,750; Matson Electric Equipment Company, Oakland, $62,793; Scott Electric Company, Oakland, $63,344; Lemoge Electric Company, San Francisco, $64,610; Scott-Buttner Electric Company, Oakland, $65,650; Abbott Electric Corporation, San Francisco, $76,176.

The recall group's latest press release gave these "before" and "after" listings concerning Cummings:

"SAN RAMON SEWER PLAN:

"Before May 2: Cummings and the rest of the board ignored petitions signed by 1190 people and allowed the formation of a special sewer assessment district — without a vote by the people.

"After May 2: On May 25, Cummings told 200 people at a Danville meeting that he hadn't known how they felt about the sewer plan!! The next day at the Sanitary District meeting he asked for reconsideration of the plan after the bids for the sewer work were opened and tallied! . . .

"MASTER PLANNING:

"Before May 2: Mr. Cummings denounced suggestions by citizens' organization that the key post of county planning director be selected by competitive examination.

"At a zoning hearing involving Pleasant Hill property, he said, 'I don't know what all this agitation over a master plan means.'

"A public hearing on the Moraga Master Plan before the County Planning Commission scheduled for May 6 was in effect cancelled by the Board of Supervisors at a meeting on April 6. The county planning director was told by Cummings, during a Board meeting on April 6, that, "You knew we wanted the zoning application before this Board on May 3."

"AFTER MAY 2: On May 3 the supervisors promptly tossed said 'hot potato' back to the Planning Commission. The following are significant quotes from Mr. Cummings at the meeting: 'We have planners to advise us on these matters.' 'I don't know why the Planning Commission cannot sit down and do this thing right.'

"On May 11, Cummings appeared before the Lafayette Improvement Association with the head of the master plan section of the County Planning Staff. Cummings was full of praise for master planning!

"At the Alamo planning meeting on June 2, Cummings complimented the master planning staff highly and said they had come all the way from the East to work for us."

Auto Dealers Close Shops in Answer To Union Strike

The Eastern Contra Costa Automotive Dealers' Association comprising 41 auto and parts dealers in Contra Costa County, closed their repair shops Wednesday in answer to the strike of the International Association of Machinists, Lodge 1173, and International Teamsters, Local 315 AFL.

The strike was called Tuesday against La Sorella Buick of Pittsburg member of the CCAD, during negotiations and contrary to an old master agreement still in effect.

400 AUTOMOBILE mechanics in southern, central and eastern Contra Costa were requesting a 15 cents an hour wage increase contract.

A seven cents an hour increase, extended by the CCAD, June 3, had been informally refused. The union contract which was to have expired June 1 was extended to July 1.

Negotiations were in progress when the unions struck against La Sorella Buick.

A SPOKESMAN for CCAD said, "We were surprised at this new turn of events. At the last negotiations meeting, these unions had promised to vote on the dealers proposal of June 3.

"Instead the unions neither notified the Automotive Dealers of their formal rejection of the proposal nor the pending strike until the La Sorella incident"

The CCAD spokesman went on to say that "in loyalty to the struck dealer, the Dealers' Association has decided to close repair shops until such time as the unions are ready to hold a peaceful meeting."

Chamber Asks Veto Of Reservoir Bill

The Lafayette Chamber of Commerce Wednesday wired Governor Goodwin Knight asking him to veto the bill authorizing East Bay Municipal Utility District reservoirs to be opened up for fishing and other recreation.

President Fred Wagner of the chamber said the local group is opposed to the law passed this session by the State Legislature (AB 3678) on the grounds that pollution of domestic water supply would occur.

Please Don't Read Mrs. Breed's Ad

There is an ad in the classified section of our paper today that we want you to ignore. This may strike you as an unusual request; so we shall explain:

Mrs. Horace Breed, 8 Camino Encinas, Orinda, wanted her two Manx cats to go to a good home. She placed an ad in The Sun Shopping News and the Walnut Creek Sun, Orinda Sun and Lafayette Sun — all for one bargain price.

The result is that since Wednesday Mrs. Breed has been flooded with phone calls from all over central Contra Costa County. The cats went to a man in Concord. Another man, disappointed at not getting the cats, is going to wait for their kittens!

Mrs. Breed is very impressed with the results of her ad, but please don't call her any more. The cats are no longer with her.

Glorietta Group Clarifies Position On Meadow Pool Bid; Favors Permit

In the wake of last week's rejection by the Planning Commission of Meadow Pool Corporation's application for a land use permit, several letters have come from residents, along with one by the Glorietta Improvement Association.

The Glorietta Improvement Association, in a letter signed by Al Winsor, secretary, states:

"DUE TO APPARENT misunderstanding regarding the position of the association, we wish to re-affirm our position on the matter.

"The association is in favor of the pool, provided the safety problem at the intersection of Heather Lane and Glorietta Boulevard is corrected, prior to the opening of the pool, in accordance with the recommendations of the County Safety Engineer, Basil Andrews."

Mrs. G. S. Trumbly writes:

"I would like the rest of Orinda citizens to know how our public servants work for us.

"The County Planning Commission worked out a master plan for Orinda. The Moraga Meadows-Glorietta communities had a recreation center proposed in the vicinity of Glorietta School.

"THE TWO communities formed Meadow Pool, Inc., and took an option on the land to build with our own money and our own hard labor a swimming pool.

"So because of a few families the planning commissioners go against their own directives and vote against the pool."

Mrs. Trumbly adds, "Mr. deCosta, our commissioner from Orinda, conveniently was absent on May 10 when we had our hearing. He never faced this controversy by learning the pros and cons, studying the master plan of Orinda, visiting the proposed area and voting for the good of the whole community.

"No, he took the easy way out by abstaining in the vote," she wrote.

She thanked commissioners Frank Beede, George Honegger and Donald Ward for their affirmative votes.

COPIES OF TWO letters sent to Board of Supervisors Chairman H. L. "Jack" Cummings, protesting the decision of the Planning Commission, were sent to The Sun by Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Haefele.

Mrs. Haefele wrote, "Let us hope that in the end the children and adults who have been waiting so anxiously for this pool will not be forced to consider themselves second class citizens.

"Although this bungling . . . has deprived them for this summer we hope in the end our government will be truly one for the greatest good for the greatest number."

HAEFELE REVIEWED the actions taken by the commission, criticizing especially Joseph deCosta's abstention, and concluding:

"You may be sure that the decision . . . will be appealed to the board of supervisors where it is hoped the facts will be considered rather than the personalities and 'vested interests' involved."

"There are several hundred voters in Moraga Meadows who are really hot about the . . . decision."

Another letter, also sent to Cummings, came from William W. Henning, who asked the supervisor to "advise Mr. DeCosta that if he is unable to reach a decision on commission matters that concern a majority of people in his district that he step down and let a more able man take his place."

Cummings Visits Meadow Pool Site

Chairman H. L. (Jack) Cummings of the County Board of Supervisors inspected the proposed site for Meadow Pool Tuesday and said, "It's a very good location—the distances from homes are a lot greater than I had thought."

Cummings made the statement at a meeting of members of Meadow Pool, Incorporated, Tuesday night at the Glorietta School all-purpose room.

THE NON-PROFIT corporation, composed of member families from the Glorietta and Moraga Meadows Improvement Association areas, seeks to build a pool on a six-acre site near the intersection of Heather Lane and Valley Drive.

The County Planning Commission last week turned down the group's application for a land use permit.

Frank Leibold Jr., president of Meadow Pool, Incorporated, told the 140 persons at the meeting Tuesday that the law firm of Tinning and DeLap of Martinez has been retained to appeal the case to the Board of Supervisors.

The appeal will be filed Monday in Martinez.

RANDELL COOK, a director of both the pool group and of the Glorietta Association, said the Glorietta Association now "wholeheartedly endorses the pool."

The association earlier had stated its only objection was a safety factor at the intersection of Glorietta Boulevard and Heather Lane.

Leibold announced that county crews Saturday had begun to cut back the shoulder at the intersection to improve the visibility, as recommended by Basil Andrews, county safety engineer.

Leibold praised the county on its "wonderful cooperation."

HE ALSO READ a letter written to the Moraga Meadows Improvement Association and Glorietta Improvement Association, in which objectors to the proposed pool had stated their main objections were based on the safety factor.

Finn Thrane, a director of Meadow Pool, said residential appraisers he had contacted "agree that property values are definitely enhanced by an attractive pool in the area."

Library Board Studies Contour Map, Fund Plans

Methods of fund raising and a contour map of the Community Center property were discussed at a meeting of the Orinda Library Board June 9 at the home of George Hartzell.

Plans are being formulated for a community-wide rummage sale in late summer to benefit the library building fund. Mrs. Clint Scarich, a Junior Woman's Club representative, will be in charge of the sale.

A contour survey of a portion of existing Community Center property has been completed, according to Joe Smoot, architectural consultant to the Library Board.

The contour map was made at the request of the Orinda Association in order to determine the best possible use of the community land.

Cost of the survey was handled by donations from civic groups, including the Orinda Library Board.

Services Held For Mrs. Reha

Services for Mrs. Julia Reha, wife of Stephen Reha of 173 Orinda Highway, were held June 7 at Cooper Mortuary in Oakland.

Mrs. Reha, who had lived in the Bay Area 44 years and in Orinda six years, died in an Oakland hospital June 4 following a stroke. She was 54.

A native of Hungary, she was brought to the United States at the age of 2, and moved with her family from Chicago to the Bay Area when she was 10.

Survivors include her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Lowman of Orinda and Mrs. Rosalie Champi of Hayward, one sister, Mrs. Geraldine Oliver of Sacramento, and three grandchildren, Jane and Stephen Lowman of Orinda and Mitchell Champi of Hayward.

THE PINE GROVE

QUESTION BOX

IN WHICH RESIDENTS OF ORINDA ARE INVITED TO ASK QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR PROPOSED NEW NEIGHBOR, THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES OF P.I.E.

Proposed P.I.E. Administrative Office Designed by Cliff May Associates

Mrs. E. C. Drews
Address: Canon Drive

Q. Why did your company purchase land you knew to be zoned Residential Agriculture, which precludes buildings such as you propose?

A. Preliminary surveys indicated most of the Orinda people would support our request for rezoning, and the Pine Grove site is a logical extension of the existing business district. The P-I-E Administrative Office is classed as Professional-Administrative—a zoning in keeping with the pattern of land use about the freeway interchange.

Phil Joy
Address: Rita Way

Q. What is the value of property required for a Community Center, per Mr. Violich's report?

A. The Pine Grove property, plus the several acres across San Pablo Dam Road (now owned by Shell Oil Co.) is now worth upwards of $250,000.00. In contrast to this, there are suitable alternate sites for a Community Center, now available, which may be purchased for $2,000 to $3,000 per acre.

S. Massie
Address: Estabueno

Q. Wouldn't approval of the P-I-E proposal for its property at the Pine Grove site set a precedent for rezoning that would admit hotels, motels and night clubs in Orinda?

A. Absolutely not. Proper zoning for administrative headquarters, "Professional-Administrative," sets no precedent for hotels, motels and night clubs in Orinda. They are not permitted in a Professional-Administrative zone.

Herbert Hauser
Address: Moraga Highway

Q. Will residential property values go down if P-I-E is permitted to build an administrative headquarters on the Pine Grove?

A. No. Rezoning of the P-I-E property will have no more effect on property values than the already established commercial uses in the area. In Menlo Park, residential property adjacent to administrative offices has greatly increased in value.

C. E. Coburn
Address: Hacienda Circle

Q. What's all this talk about "spot zoning"?

A. Spot zoning is where a small lot is zoned for commercial use in a predominately residential area. The P-I-E project does not come under this heading. Except for one strip of semi-public properties west of the Pine Grove site, South, East and West adjacencies to the property are either zoned commercial, or are included as part of a planned shopping center. The Pine Grove Upper Grade School is adjacent to the property on the north side. As such, the Pine Grove is a logical extension of the existing and planned commercial zones.

Shepherd Canyon Freeway Outlined

the proposed Shepherd Canyon Freeway was described by representatives of the State Division of Highways at a Wednesday morning meeting in Lafayette's Veterans Memorial Building.

This leg of the freeway will run from St. Mary's College to Mt. Diablo Boulevard, forming a link in an eventual connection of Oakland with Central Contra Costa County.

OFFICIALS SAID the length would be about four miles, and that estimated cost is $2,500,000—$2 million for actual construction and $500,000 for buying the right of way.

Assistant State Highway Engineer B. W. Booker and his associates outlined what they propose as the proper route, based on location studies.

From the St. Mary's College area, the freeway will follow the Sacramento Northern tracks and St. Mary's Road, and then go through the old Moraga Ranch area. It will swing through the canyon in back of the East Bay Municipal Utilities District water tank, and follow Reliez Station area, incorporating Reliez Station Road, and emerge at the Pleasant Hill Road Interchange at Acalanes Junction.

THE STATE HIGHWAY Engineer will recommend this route to the State Highway Commission, Booker said. This body then decides whether or not it wants a public hearing on the question. If it finally approves the route, there follows, according to officials:

1. Detailed surveys and plans.
2. A formal freeway agreement with the county regarding county road changes.
3. Purchase and clearing of the right of way.
4. Construction.
5. A maintenance agreement between the county and state.

The officials stated that at present, the proposed center line of the freeway is accurate within a few feet. Minimum width of the entire right of way is 166 feet. This figure is susceptible to change all along the route because of topographical conditions, they added.

IN ONLY FOUR or five cases is private property affected, perhaps subject to slight change when detailed surveying is completed, it was pointed out.

The Division of Highways officials invited all interested property owners to check regularly with their San Francisco office, 150 Oak Street, as freeway plans proceed.

Approval of the outlined plan will take a minimum of two months. If the State Highway Commission does decide on a public hearing, any approval would require from four to six months.

A MAP OF THE route will not be available for print until the commission reviews the plan.

Victor Sauer, county road commissioner-surveyor, commented on the large map at Wednesday's meeting: "Such practical advanced planning should be finalized as soon as possible."

Booker apologized for the delay in notifying the press of the public meeting regarding the freeway. Previously, adequate advance notice to the press was not given in the case of a public hearing in Walnut Creek regarding the proposed freeway between that city and Danville.

Others present at Wednesday's meeting along with about 25 interested citizens were J. P. Sinclair and A. E. Simmons, assistant district engineers; C. F. Greene and A. C. Bierne, from the State Division of Highways; and H. L. Cummings, Ray Taylor, Jake Frederickson and Bud Buchanan, all county supervisors.

No Indication of Vaccine for County

The school year is drawing to a close and the Health Department still has no indication as to when it will have polio vaccines to complete its vaccinations of first and second graders, Dr. Beryl Graham, Assistant Health Officer, announced today.

The Health Department had planned to send the schedule for second immunizations home with first and second graders before the end of the school semester. However, since no vaccine is on hand this will not be possible.

The Health Department has been assured that delaying the second shots will not lessen the effectiveness of the vaccine.

When the vaccine is received, and if there are no important objections to its use at that time, places will be arranged for special immunization clinics where first and second graders who have received one injection will be given their second. Any first or second grade child who missed the first injection may receive it at that time.

Notices will be published in advanee of clinies.

Acalanes District's Fourth School Site Approved by State

The School House Planning Division of the State Department of Education has joined the Contra Costa Planning Commission in approving purchase of a high school site in the Burton area by the Acalanes High School District.

Acalanes trustees have taken action to apply for a loan from the state following voters approval recently of a district proposal to borrow state funds to buy additional school sites.

TRUSTEES ARE currently negotiating with representatives of the Utah Land Company for a 40 acre site in the Burton area.

Acalanes District trustees have approved a study by Stanford University that will probe population growth, project future enrollments, reappraise the size of a high school from the standpoint of initial costs of the school plant, operation costs, transportation costs, educational services, location of sites, and give special attention to the relationship of the size of the high school to the educational impact on the pupils.

The study will probably be completed by the end of the calendar year. Similar studies have been conducted in the Walnut Creek Elementary District, Redwood City, San Mateo and other school districts.

IN OTHER ACTION Acalanes District trustees granted a strip of land along the Danville Highway bordering Las Lomas High School to the city of Walnut Creek for street development purposes.

Trustees also appointed Aldo Ewart to audit district accounts for 1954-55; decided to take final action on the proposed budget at their meeting of June 27, and approved the employment of the following teachers:

Everett Brott, industrial arts; Melina Rose, english; Betty Sloan, commercial; Robert Wignot, math, all at Las Lomas. Milo Holinda, auto shop; and Jolla Jones, english-math, both teachers at Acalanes.

Roger Callan, boys physical education; Calvin Crabill, math; Naomi Gidding, Dean of Girls; John Meek, crafts; and Helen Neilson, home economics, all at Miramonte High in Orinda.

"Immediate Action Necessary"

Charge Right to Appeal Office Permit Violated by Planning Dept. Procedure

"A procedural error" deprived citizens of the right to appeal a controversial office permit, directors of the Emergency Committee for Master Planning charged recently.

In a letter to the County Planning Commission, signed by Robert Guichard of Lafayette, the ECMP board took the planning department to task over procedure involved in the granting of a land use permit to A. C. Tresidder for a professional office building at 919 Moraga Road, Lafayette.

THE PERMIT WAS granted May 11 by the County Board of Adjustment, "despite protests," the letter states.

"However, the planning department failed to notify the protestants of this fact until May 19. Since only 10 days are allowed to appeal a land use permit, this delay meant that the residents had but two days in which to appeal," the letter continues.

It goes on to say:

"They (the protestants) immediately forwarded to the Planning Department a petition with 34 signatures thereon objecting to the land use permit.

"On Monday, May 23, the Planning Department phoned the objectors and asked if the petition indicated they wished to appeal the decision.

"LIKE MOST individuals, the residents were unaware of the exact procedures necessary for an appeal and the commission is at fault for not mailing out a standard form indicating the steps necessary for an appeal.

"It is true, of course, that citizens should be aware of all the details of proper procedure, but since the department sends out notice we feel an informative statement would be more business-like than the present haphazard notification.

"When told they must officially file an appeal together with a $25 fee, the residents wished to do so at once. Since it was impossible on such short notice to get the fee to Martinez by the 5 p.m. closing time, the residents asked if they could send the fee by registered mail postmarked by 5 p.m.

"The Planning Department spokesman said the District Attorney advised this would not be satisfactory. The money had to be in Martinez at the office by 5 p.m.

"AS A RESULT, no appeal was possible."

According to the letter, protestants were "shocked" by such careless handling of a matter of public concern," and sent a request to the Planning Commission for a hearing on procedure.

The "procedural point hearing has not been granted," the letter attests.

Guichard's letter charges that "the Commission has been at fault in this case," and points to "the matter of poor public relations as well as lack of respect for the right of appeal."

Women Realtors Present $200 to Retarded Children

The Guidance for Retarded Children program of East Contra Costa County received, last Friday, $200 from the Women's Division of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

The presentation was made by President Vera Foss and Mrs. Virginia Slater, entertainment chairman who arranged the recent "Jinx" party for real estate sales people, brokers and their friends in the central county area.

President James Hendryx of the Guidance Center accepted the check. The latter organization conducts a school for young children in the parish hall of Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Walnut Creek.

Ward Appointed

William W. Ward Jr., 33, coordinator of civil defense for the city of Alameda since 1951, has been appointed director of Contra Costa County's new department of Civil Defense.

The appoinment was made June 6 by the Board of Supervisors without stating when Ward would assume his duties. The post carries a $590 monthly starting salary.

Christian Science

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read at services Sunday at Churches of Christ, Scientist, at 42 Orinda Highway, Orinda, and 1347 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

Scriptural selections from the King James Version of the Bible stress the supremacy of spiritual power and include the account of Christ Jesus feeding the multitude as recorded by Matthew (14:14-20) and John's account (6:16-21) of Jesus walking on the sea.

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (273:21-26):

"God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked cheservicesHealth wasSpir-on9.EE on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws."

NEW FACES

And a great time was had by all at these affairs, but now we are coming to the end of all that. This Sunday will be graduation and we will leave to be replaced by another class.

For me, this means not only the last of school, but also my last column for The Sun. I have enjoyed writing it and hope you have enjoyed reading it. My sister, Karen, will take over this space next year. If you have any news this summer we will be happy to write about it. Send it to 5 Meadowlands Court, Orinda.

Happy summer vacation!

Lafayette Nine Loses 2 Games In Legion Play

The Lafayette Legion baseball team had a rough weekend when they dropped a pair of league tilts.

On Saturday they played Richmond at the Oil City diamond and went down before a 17-hit Richmond onslaught by a final 17-2 score.

MIKE BARRETT started on the mound for Lafayette. He was relieved in the fourth by Ron Nelson, who in turn was replaced by Norm Waddell, with Richard Markstein finishing up.

The game was fairly even in the early stages. Richmond led 6-2 at the end of the fourth, but six hits and three errors in the fifth gave Richmond seven runs and from there on it was a question of how big the final score would be.

ON SUNDAY the Lafayette club played host to San Pablo and, while they managed nine hits to the visitors' 10, they fell behind in the scoring column 10-3.

Lafayette was ahead 3-1 at the end of the fifth, only to have the visitors take the lead in the sixth, when they scored four runs on two hits, to go out in front 5-3

San Pablo added four more in the eighth to grab the 10-3 win when Lafayette failed to score.

Boehner, who is a right hander, was assigned to the Wenatchee Club of the Western International League and will be playing in the Washington-Oregon area.

He has been on the San Jose State College varsity mound for the past four years and in the off-season last summer he pitched a no-hit no-run game for the Industrial League in San Jose.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Boehner.

Larry's, Kings Divide Victories In 2 Encounters

Last Friday night saw Larry's Flying A Club cop the nod in no uncertain fashion when they toppled Kings by a 6-0 score in Walnut Creek Softball League play.

Big stick for the winners was John Nourse, who had a single and double in three trips to the plate.

Larry's nine was off to a flying start when they collected four runs on three hits in the opening frame. That was more than enough to win, as things turned out.

The other two came in the sixth on a two-hit batter and a single by Nourse.

ART HEASEL, on the mound for Kings, gave up two walks, struck out six and yielded six hits.

In the winner's column, Pitcher John Henson struck out eight, gave two bases on balls and gave four hits.

IN MONDAY'S game, Kings and Larry's had at it again, with Kings reversing the tables to take a 9-0 decision as their hurler, Gene Bell, gave up but one hit and nary a base on balls.

In the strikeout department, Bell had a lone batter to his credit while throwing his shutout.

Larry's lone safe blow came in the form of a single off the bat of Ed Bill in the second frame.

ED BILL started on the mound for Larry's but had his troubles early, as a combination of hit batters, walks and three hits gave Kings a seven-run bulge in the opening frame.

In the second frame, a hit, a walk and a wild pitch sent Bill from the mound with John Henson taking over with one away.

Two runs scored in the inning made it 9-0, and that's the way it stayed.

HENSON PUT the fire out and went the rest of the way, pitching shutout ball—but it was of no avail, as Bill hurled his shutout win.

Bill gave up four hits and Henson two, with Bill striking out one and Henson 5.

No one batter got more than one hit, with Dick Gordon's double leading the pack.

TONIGHT finds Larry's Flying A tackling State Farm.

Next Monday it's a return game between the two.

On Tuesday it's Kings in an exhibition, and on Wednesday Flying A will play a practice tilt.

The gals take over on Thursday.

Little Leaguers Trounce Hayward Nine

The Lafayette Little Leaguers, under the guiding hands of "Red" Gillham and Al Nelson, invited Hayward to town Monday night and then put on a hitting, fielding and pitching exhibition that racked the visiting nine 17-2.

The locals scored in everyone of the six innings they came to bat and fattened their batting averages with a lucky 13 safe blows.

Hayward, on the other hand, had but three hits.

Dantone and Brekke shared throwing honors for the winners, while Gonsalves and Calvert did likewise for the visitors.

The Lafayette nine used 26 players to Hayward's 10.

The game was a 6 p.m. twilight affair played at the Acalanes High School Field.

Kelly's Plays 2 Over Weekend

Norm Tuttle, Norm Parsons Are Both Regulars on U of Cal's Varsity Crew

By ERWIN MATTSON

AN INTERESTING sports item for local fans concerns the California varsity crew.

Two ex-Don athletes are regulars on the Cal first boat.

Norm Tuttle and Norm Parsons are the two, with Tuttle a sophomore, while Parsons is a senior.

Stanford defeated Cal recently for the first time in 38 years. Cal gave Stanford its shell and an ex-Cal coxwain serves as coach—and Stanford showed its gratitude by winning!

Baseball fans were treated to a rare sight recently when the Little Leaguers played a game on the Walnut Creek softball diamond.

Squads representing Walnut Creek and Lafayette were on hand and the coaches substituted freely, with players rolling in and out like an ocean wave.

The play was surprisingly good and amazed many. Some players were hardly bigger than the bats they carried but showed that they knew what they were for when they came to bat.

The game was a preview and warmup for official league play, which starts when summer vacation begins.

Look for some red-hot teams in the near future when this crew begins to hit the high school diamonds.

DON FERRARESE continues to win in his return to Pacific Coast League ball. Not only has his pitching been effective but he has been hitting the ball with regularity.

If Don keeps up his winning pace, he will soon be returning to the Big Leagues, and that could happen real sudden, as he is here on 24-hour recall.

Legion Baseball Teams Face New Round of Games

The Contra Costa Legion teams face further action, with teams going into the second round of play starting tomorrow.

El Cerrito is currently leading the league, being the only club in the undefeated class.

TOMORROW'S games find Concord at Antioch, Lafayette at El Cerrito, Richmond at Martinez, and Walnut Creek at San Pablo.

On Sunday Concord plays at Richmond, El Cerrito comes to Walnut Creek, and Martinez plays San Pablo at San Pablo.

LAFAYETTE plays Antioch at Acaalnes High's field Monday in a p p.m. twilight contest.

All others are slated for 2 p.m.

Lutz, Williams to Aim for Qualify Slots on Speedway

Walnut Creek's Fred Lutz and Herb Williams tonight will be gunning for finishing positions among the first five in the feature hard top race at Contra Costa Speedway.

The local pilots are out to qualify for the 100-lap race on the county oval next Friday. In the past three weeks, the first five finishers in the 25-lap main events earned qualifying berths for the event.

WAYNE ESTES, Walnut Creek's third hard top pilot, qualified for the 100-lapper last week by finishing fourth in the main event.

Frank Cavazza, Walnut Creek midget race owner, has selected Mike McGreevy of Oakland to pilot his slick Kurtis V8 tomorrow night in the Bay Cities Racing Assn. program at Contra Costa Speedway.

"MILE-A-MINUTE MIKE," one of the most popular BCRA pilots, is ranked among the favorites for Saturday's 30-lap main event, according to Jack London, BCRA business manager. The blond 5 ft. 1 in. leadfoot returned to the BCRA this year after two seasons of barnstorming on the midwest tracks.

WITH THE CLOSE OF ANOTHER athletic year at hand Coach Erwin Mattson turned to his fellow mentors and said, "Let's get gassed!" Led by Mr. Eaton the happy group tooled out in Matt's "bug" only to wind up at a service station—as usual Coach Matt was talking about his car when he said "gassed." Noting that you always "have to be properly suited for the job you tackle," Mr. Eaton donned his pump togs and check listed the rest of the boys on service. "Hi-Octane" Harold Oxsen pours lemonade into the built-in bar in Matt's Volks-boat while Tom Stamper introduces Jean Ridley to "Ethyl." Try as he may Mr. "R" can't find her anywhere. Coach Jim Nelson tells Stamper that "Ethyl" is his girl, while Roger Smith casts a weary eye over the whole shebang and silently steals away for a better racket. All of these cartoon "characters" are on the coaching staff at Acalanes High School. —Blueprint Photo

Troop 207 Helps Blind with Money

A blinded veteran or civilian from the west will receive a guide dog and the education to use it, thanks to Boy Scout Troop 207 in Orinda, Guide Dogs for the Blind, Incorporated, announced today.

Since early 1953 the troop has been working to collect enough money to underwrite the cost of educating one blind student at the non-profit school and on Tuesday, the troop presented the last installment on $1500 it has collected for the purpose.

T. G. Cullen, scoutmaster, made the presentation during a dinner and court of honor ceremony at the Scout Hut at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday to Mrs. Bernice Anderson of Walnut Creek, a graduate of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Incorporated.

Mrs. Anderson told the troop how the blind are trained to use guide dogs in place of "eyes."

A silver guide dog, mounted on a redwood plaque, was presented to the troop by Mrs. Farrell Smith, representing the Guide Dog School. The plaque is given in recognition of "extraordinary services to the guide dog organization."

Pack 52 Upset

The Cub Baseball League ended May 28 when Pack 32 upset the favored Pack 52 by the score of 6 to 3. The defeat ended 52's winning streak of 5 straight games and gave them a season total of 6 wins and 2 defeats.

Pack 32 scored all its runs in the first three innings. Don Hildebrandt, 52 starting pitcher, was wild, forcing in 2 runs in the first before being replaced by Mike Smyth.

Smyth gave up one run in the second and a three-run homer to Young in the third. Smyth struck out 17 but was only given three runs by his teamates, all in the last inning.

Collins, the 32 hurler, pitched tight ball all the way, giving up only 5 hits, three of which came in the last inning. He struck out 11 and gave up only 5 bases on balls while his teamates played errorless ball behind him.

Highlighting the game was the battle for the batting championship between Don Hildebrandt and Bruce Nickerson, both of Pack 52.

Both came out with one hit apiece as Hildebrandt edged Nickerson with a seasonal average of .524 to Nickerson's even .500.

Batteries for 52 were Hildebrandt, Smyth and Bowles and for 32, Collins and Young.

By Proper Care of Acid Loving Plants You Will Be Able to Enjoy Color Show

By THE GARDENER

"THE TIME HAS COME," as the Walrus might have said, to speak, not of cabbages, but of acid-loving plants.

These plants should have the proper fertilizing and mulching now if their lovely, colorful flowers are to be enjoyed in the future.

Those plants which generally fall under the category of acid-loving are camellias, fuchsias, rhododendrons and azaleas.

ALL THRIVE in acid soils and in applying a mulch the gardener should work with such materials that will give an acid reaction.

Leaf mold, peat moss, a compost of oak leaves, for instance, will all react in an acid-manner in addition to helping maintain a moist soil which these plants enjoy.

In the care of camellias, mulching with peat or compost will not only help to keep roots cool but also will provide a continuous supply of organic material.

Fertilizers that are acid-reacting are usually applied in early spring and again about four months later.

FUCHSIAS REQUIRE less acidity than do other acid-loving plants. However a slightly acid and very rich moist soil with good drainage is the best planting medium for the fuchsia, and in mulching, a 3-inch application of peat or sawdust cools the plant's roots.

If the mulch is watered frequently, moist air will cool the plant, too.

As for fertilizing, the fuchsia will react quickly to any complete fertilizer, organic or inorganic. Apply according to the manufacturer's directions, but after growth is going strong in the spring cut the spesmall amount in four parts and apply once weekly.

SO ACID-LOVING are rhododendrons and azaleas that they can even be planted in straight much material—peat moss or peat moss and sand.

Planting in mulch material is recommended in California if there is any question of the suitability of the soil. Otherwise the planting medium can be half peat or leaf mold and half soil.

As for fertilizing rhododendrons and azaleas, complete acid fertilizers are recommended by nurserymen, with the suggestion not to overdo the feeding of these plants.

Supply yourself with mulching materials and fertilizers to care for your acid-loving plants.

If you begin a proper feeding and mulching program now, you will be able to enjoy a longer-lasting color show in your garden later.

Wondering About Begonias, Lawn? Here's Checklist

Here's advice from the latest Garden Checklist:

1. Mildew on tuberous begonias no longer need be a problem. Your nurseryman can recommend a control.

2. Train your lawn to do with the minimum of water by watering deeply. Deep watering promotes deep roots. Water deeply and less frequently.

3. Irrigate tomatoes so that the water penetrates to a depth of 2 or 3 feet. All ornamental shrubs should likewise be watered deeply.

4. Ants spread garden pests. Your nurseryman will tell you how to control them.

5. Plant these items without delay: Tuberous begonia seedlings, fuchsias, pelargoniums and geraniums.

Drilling to Start For Gas and Oil

Drilling for gas and oil is expected to start by July 15 at three locations in San Ramon, it was reported June 3 by O. G. Green of Oakland, head of The Buttes Oil Fields, Inc., holders of nearly 12,000 acres in leased rights surrounding their community.

The corporation holds leases in some 80 per cent of the surrounding area in which geologists have prophesied oil or gas might be found. The remainder is leased by other major oil firms.

The three wells will include two bores down to the 6000 foot level and one to 9000 feet, Green stated. He said that studies by the University of California led his firm to think, "the area has possibilities from 2000 feet."

Cost of the deep hole at San Ramon is expected to range from $200,000 to $250,000.

'Doubter' Admits Sun Ads Get Big, Speedy Results

"My phone started ringing about 10:30 on Wednesday morning and didn't stop until the weekend, after we had sold all the items we advertised in The Sun."

That's a "doubter" talking, by her own admission. Mrs. Duane Meyers of 1927 Oakland Boulevard, Walnut Creek, told The Sun she had "no idea" there would be that many calls for the household articles she advertised for sale.

After awhile, she started keeping track of the number of calls she received last week about the ad.

"I didn't get their names, except, of course, the names of those who got there first to buy the items, but we received a total of 53 calls for the one ad," she said.

Improved Job in Planning Is Due to Citizen Groups

In general, there seems to be an increasing effort these days by county authorities to effect closer relationship between them and the public, regarding planning and zoning problems.

This is an encouraging development.

For instance, the County Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors are calling a public discussion meeting at Acalanes High School for Monday night, for the purpose of disseminating information on planning program and procedures.

This gathering has been announced as the first of a series of meetings on the subject. It is an innovation which augurs well for better public understanding of "what's cookin'" at Martinez.

Also, our county officials, including county planning staff members, are apparently meeting more with various citizen groups.

An example of this was the recent session of the Alamo Improvement Association, at which some 200 members questioned Supervisor H. L. (Jack) Cummings, County Planning Director Thomas Heaton and Associate County Planner Richard Stockwell.

That was not the first time that county officials have appeared at improvement association meetings, of course. But it is symptomatic of the sort of relationship with the public which has been increasingly evident of late.

The recent hearing session before the Planning Commission, regarding possible changes in the County Zoning Ordinance, is still another example of better liaison with the public.

The various sides were there. Pros and cons were argued. Further discussions will be held.

Certainly master planning in the county has been expedited many fold in the past few months. This does not mean that the situation is beyond criticism. It means that the situation is better than it has been. We hope improvement continues.

County officials, including the Planning Commission and its staff, are to be commended for this refreshing change.

However, considerable credit must go to the various citizen groups. These volunteer groups of area residents have been basically responsible for the improvements which we have noted.

By their publicizing of planning problems, by their suggestions and demands, they have brought about the better situation.

It is heartening, of course, that the county officials are heeding the voices of the citizen groups. But it is the citizen groups that deserve the major praise.

This is democracy in action.

The citizens have made their wishes known—and the county has been responsive to this prompting.

What They Say

Alarm Clocks – Who Needs Them?

The "Down with Alarm Clocks Improvement Association" persuaded our researchers this week to take up the banner.

It was gentle, and brief, persuasion. With the morning's jangling clock still in mind, they picked up the phones and with devious objectivity, asked a few local residents:

"DO YOU REALLY need an alarm clock to awaken you, now that summer is here?"

Donald Young of 55 Monte Vista, Orinda, yawned and said, "No. It's probably conditioning. I'm used to waking up at a certain hour so I just wake up without one the year around."

"Well, we were abroad last summer and didn't need one, but we usually do depend on an alarm clock — I don't imagine we'll need one this summer, though," answered Richard Leland of 15 St. James Court, Orinda.

"I just had my little alarm clock" was the surprising answer of Mrs. David Rose of 3361 Betty Lane, Lafayette. By that, it later developed, she meant the new arrival — Michael David — born May 24. Mrs. Rose added that the family uses an alarm clock (mechanical type) the year around.

CLEVE WEBB of 1044 Sunnybrook Drive, Lafayette, finds an alarm clock necessary because "I travel quite a bit and it comes in handy when I have to catch an early plane."

DONALD STONE of 242 Sequoia Avenue, Walnut Creek, chuckled and said, "Nothing affects my sleep but the alarm clock."

When next your researcher asked this week's question, his party exclaimed, "Not Now!" It seems that Mrs. Darrell Thompson of 2125 San Miguel Drive, Walnut Creek, was very recently the proud mother of a hungry little boy.

"OH, ALARM CLOCKS are unnecessary in this house," laughed Mrs. J. A. Pardee of 1879 Lucille Lane, Pleasant Hill. "I have three growing children who wake up long before I do," she added.

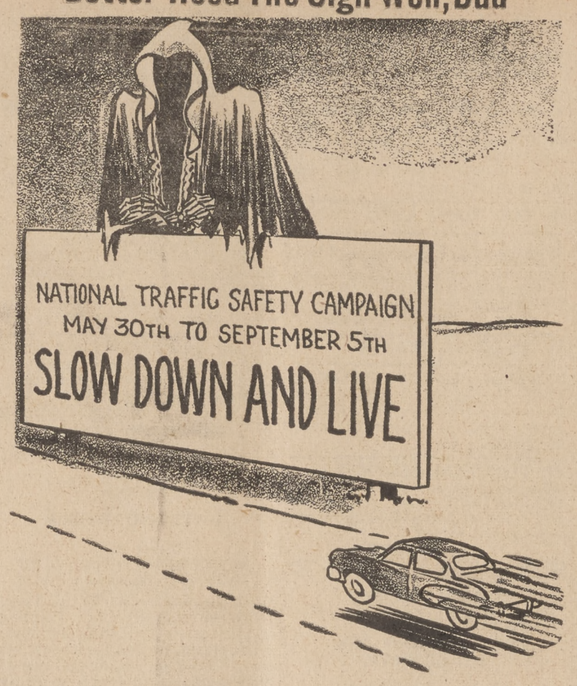

Mrs. Jay Parker of 46 Collins Drive, Pleasant Hill is fortunate in that, "I've never needed an alarm clock; waking up, for me, is an automatic thing and not at all affected by the change of seasons."

W.C. Girl Elected

Barbara Gaffigan of Walnut Creek, newly elected president of Contra Costa County Legal Secretaries Association, was recently installed into her office in ceremonies held at the Danville Hotel.

A July picnic is planned for all members of the association and their families.

County Asked to Fix House Moving Laws

The county building inspector and County Planning Commission are asked to adopt an ordinance to set up minium standards for houses that are moved to new locations.

President Ralph Becker of the Gracelands Improvement Association, in letters to the county, said a number of homes are being moved from the route of the Lafayette Freeway.

TWO HOUSES have been moved to lots between Belle and Hoover Avenues in recent weeks which were substandard, Becker charged.

He said one house was moved out after it was learned the mover failed to obtain a permit. The Association is asking the county to order removal of the second dwelling also.

Rudolph Kraintz, county building inspector, said he believes he is powerless to prohibit the moving of substandard houses or to withhold permits for their reconstruction.

HE SAID A solution might be to force housemovers to post a bond guaranteeing that buildings will be placed in proper condition within a liimted time.

Council to the Planning Commission, Deputy District Attorney Matthew S. Walker, said an amendment to the county building ordinance, perhaps requiring such a bond, has been considered but that no action has been taken.

THE PRESENT ordinance requires that persons moving a substandard building, work for 60 days to correct deficiencies. If they are not corrected and work has not been performed for 60 days, the county may start abatement proceedings, Walker said.

Abatement action has been taken in several instances on the grounds the buildings constitute a public nuisance.

Meadowbrook Club Lays Plans

The Meadowbrook Golf Club, recently established, will be developed on the properties occupied by the Probert School at Reliez Valley and Grayson Roads, A. E. Lambert of the board of directors said yesterday.

One of a series of cocktail parties to familiarize members with the club grounds and plans for further development was held June 5.

Among those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames George Wheeler, Robert Bradell, Victor Walberg and Ben Kolster.

Lambert said the club house and swimming pool are completed. He added, "It is anticipated the installation of the golf course, tennis courts and children's play area will be completed this summer."

Contra Costa Tax Highest in State

James H. Quinn, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, reported from Sacramento, recently, that Contra Costa County's tax rate of $7.85 per $100 of assessed valuation was the highest in the State of California in the 1954-55 fiscal year.

Second highest of the 58 counties was Alameda with a rate of $7.74.

BOTH COUNTIES were far over the $6.07 per $100 of assessed valuation rate which was the average in the state. Forty counties had rates below this figure. Twenty-one counties had average rates of less than $5. In five the rate is less than $4 and the lowest rate in the state is Alpine County with a tax of $2.23.

Contra Costa County's asssessed valuation of $445,342,000 resulted in taxes of $34,963,000 of which $3,835,000 went to cities, $11,443,000 went to the county, $15,827,000 to the school districts, and $3,858,000 went to special districts, Quinn reported.

TAX RATES of other counties in the region included: Lake County, $5.25; Napa County, $5.84; San Francisco City and County, $6.74, and Solano County, $4.93.

In only six counties was the tax rate over $7: Alameda, Contra Costa, Humboldt, Imperial, Marin and Sacramento.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

Just finished reading my June 10 edition of The Sun and it is gratifying to know there is another resident of Lafayette quite aware of the high rate of speed practiced on the back roads. Hats off to that resident of Rosedale Avenue!

We, of Stanley Boulevard and Springbrook Road (bordering Acalanes High), are harassed daily by speed maniacs. Chief offenders in my estimation, and this is really good, are the very people who live and maintain homes in this area!

NEXT IN ORDER, we have the students in their wild dash for freedom at 2:40 p.m., and believe me those 25 mph. posted speed signs don't mean a thing.

The California Highway Patrol! Oh, yes! They've been notified by phone at Martinez and personally at Rick's drive-in over a cup of coffee. To date, as far as I can see, absolutely no action has been taken.

Yes, Mr. Resident of Rosedale Avenue, know just what you mean. If you obtain any action down your way, here's another resident who would like to know how it was done.

Edward A. Stevens.

Pin balls, allergies & news

What shall we talk about today?

"You can always gab about pin ball machines!"

The wise crack between the quote marks comes from the sarcastic voice of Snoopy, the office cat.

Okay, Snoopy, you wise guy, I will talk about pin ball games—for a couple of graphs. And let's toss in some draw poker besides.

Earlier in the week did you read about the special election in San Pablo, on the bay side of our big county? Well, voters there registered an almost three-to-one approval of an ordinance to prohibit all pin ball games and draw poker parlors.

Following a previous election, the San Pablo city council voted last November to outlaw pin balls and commercial draw poker. The law was to take effect June 30. The gambling interests then circulated petitions which forced another election held this week.

And so another Contra Costa city takes action. Others which have varying ordinances include Antioch, Richmond, El Cerrito and Walnut Creek (the latter banning draw poker). City of Oakland and Alameda County keeps close control on this problem.

Now here is the needle: whenever the problem of draw poker or pin ball games is presented to our county board of supervisors, the board members evade, ignore or table the issue.

Some free advice

Snoopy cocked her head and said, "When you get off the soap box, I'd like to ask you what I can do about my hayfever."

Snoopy, old sneezer, you came to the rght place. Old Doctor Silverman knows all about hay fever and allergy. Three members of my clan are probably allergic to more things than any other three people east of the Broadway Tunnel.

Seriously, if your youngster's hay fever or asthma is bad, listen to our experience. One of our boys suffered from hay fever, allergy, asthma—call it what you will. The other boy for years has been having serious ear trouble. Doctors and specialists tried various things. Several finally suggested allergy tests. They took the tests and in January they started getting antigen—whatever that is. Result: no ear trouble and about 80 per cent less hay fever.

(Incidentally, Snoopy won't be around during the next few paragraphs. He was sneezing so badly he believed me when I told him that cats are allergic to editors.)

All in a day's work

You will recall that last week The Sun printed a statement from the Citizens for Representative Government, which is seeking to recall Supervisor H. L. "Jack" Cummings. Installation of electrical facilities at the new Pacific Intermountan Express terminal in Emeryville by Cummings' firm, Crockett Electric Shop, was described by this group as "the type of involvement which makes it difficult for Mr. Cummings to act objectively as a supervisor."

I was interested to see how some of the big city newspapers handled this most serious charge. Friday's Chronicle, for example, goes to press later than The Sun. It carried the charge but said that Cummings was unavailable for comment. Thus, they were unable to give Cummings' version.

This made me particularly proud of the reporting job in The Sun by News Editor Julius Rosenthal. Soon as he received the news release, Julius called Cummings' home, where he was informed that Cummings was attending a Supervisors' Association meeting in Sacramento and the next day would attend a meeting at Weimar Sanitarium near Auburn.

Working closely with long distance operators, Julius then called the office of the Supervisors' Association in Sacramento but with no luck. He then had the Capital page service look for the supervisor around the Capital and, next, he checked the major hotels and motels in Sacramento. Still no Cummings.

Try, try again . . .

Julius recalled Cummings' home and learned the supervisor would probably stay at Hotel Senator or the Rancho Motel. Word was left there.

Early next morning our news editor called Weimar Sanitarium and on the second try he talked to Cummings. Thus, Julius was able to give both sides of the story. Meanwhile, he also obtained statements from Cummings' office manager, P.I.E. officials and the general contractor on the P.I.E. job. It was the most complete story in any paper in the bay area.
